

Overall, I am very pleased with the Do Not Call List law. Very few calls come through and, for this, I am grateful.

If I want a business or organization to have my telephone number, I will give it to them. I DO NOT want anyone to contact me, just because they think they have something to sell to me that I can't live without!!

Telemarketers have been unrestricted for way too long. They have more "power" than those they contact. I am thankful to live in New Jersey, where MY family's choice not to be baraged with calls is considered to be important.
